"Will He Ever Return?"--HARRY'S HOUSE

Dave Barrington, the checking out kid, has returned, just as his predecessor, Stucka. To the dismay of the entire student body, he will be leaving again.

What future conquests do the U. of Md. sorority houses hold for Spratt and King? Section Six had no hits at Saturday's inspection, the first time ever at NAPS. The indomitable Co. 2 basketball teams did lose, or did we?

We hear that Carter was absolutely bushed after Saturday's wrestling match. Did Co. 1 get inspected, or was it an aberration? Will he turn it down (Spratt--NROTC)? Is it true that Section Nine is real?

Who needs NAPS? Harry's House is now the stopping-over point for wayward Camp Lejeune Marines

What happened to the invincible ex-Company Commander Spears? As usual, Co. 2 came through to win the wrestling meet (Ballinger).

Capt. Prichard thought that our celler dwellers were Co. 1, what an insult.

Section Eight got put on the pad for Sunday night's glendi. At least we can say we spent Friday night shining shoes. Co. 2 is platinum.

COLOR COMPANY COMPETITION

The Color Company competition is down to the last week and, at this time Co. 2 holds the advantage. Co. 2 picked up the Color Company Personnel Inspection last Saturday with a "win" of only 9 hits to 13 for Co. 1. This assured them of at least a tie in the Military category of Competition. In room inspections, the other half of the Military category, they clinched their victory with a 31 to 41 hit margin from the three inspections last week.

Yesterday, Co. 1 won the Intramural athletics in an extremely tight race for the marking period. The last day's four games decided the outcome 19 to 16 for the First Co. This entire marking period has been filled with some very intense rivalry and brilliant play on both sides. In addition to their Intramural win, Co. 1 also has about three more men on varsity teams. This will give them a couple of tenths of a point more, and this marking period, every fraction of a point will probably be vital for either company to win. It's that close.

This last week of the marking period is also the time when the third, and last category, Academics, is decided. The mid-term "tree list" is the only indication of how any individual, or either company is faring in the classroom. In the past two marking periods,

TOME FOAM

Greetings friends and neighbors, and welcome to the Wednesday gossip program.

NAPS ARE GRAPE--and so is Company 1!! Condon says wet down the new corporals, not Mr. Simmons...M.K. Wilson is trying out for a part in a new Tarzan movie...Was it a beer bust or a skating party?...Some of the beer bust dancers looked a little out of place...Believe it or not, Powel was actually breaking up fights! Ryan and Capra: have you lost the keys to your closets?...Co. 2's "Old Grand Dad" was confiscated by Capt. Mattiace??? The beer bust was really a success though, there must have been at least six card games...D.E. Wilson must have thought he was attending a semi-formal instead of a beer bust...Hurray for Co. 2, they started the first fight...The real party, however, started after Capt. Prichard told everyone to go home!!!

Room 219 has the Sleeping Sickness, so stay clear for your own good health...Room 320 is very vacuous--right, Condon?...Don't cross anyone from the second deck, as they have been diligently cleaning their rooms. Ellis, why don't you have your article in on time; new pair of skates, huh?...They couldn't possibly drop a volleyball game now, as our team is about to set a new all-time record! "Me thinks Co. 2 doeth protest too much!!!"...Capra, where was your laundry bag for the room inspection? Kremer has really turned into a Spit and Wax Man now!! Beckley, have you been stealing posters from the Post Office again??? Turnbull and Sayer had a big fight with the cockroaches of Tome Inn; for the results, just take a look...Loughridge, what happened to your fleet?? Caught in a gale, huh??? Sisson, it really isn't very nice to pound on little finks...

Words to the wise, "Don't get Caught"

Guess Who?

the list has clearly indicated the winner in Academics. This time Co. 2 leads with only half as many men on the list, and the final ballots will be cast this Wednesday and Thursday in the form of exams.

By all indications, Capt. Christy might have a winner this time, with Co. 2 finally garnering the colors. We will all know for sure by next weekend, and may the better company win.

NAVY ENLISTED PRECEDENCE

4

Something of intense interest to enlisted men and officers in the fleet, in the relative seniority of rated men in the different ratings. The guideline as established by Bureaus is "C-2103. ENLISTED PRECEDENCE: PRECEDENCE OF GRADE" which in length states:

(1) Two systems of military precedence are in effect: one for military matters and one for non-military matters.

(a) Military matters are defined as those in which an individual may be required to exercise his authority over others.

(b) Non-military matters are defined as those which involve privileges or honorary functions, in which no responsibility to exercise authority over others is involved.

(2) Unless otherwise directed by competent authority, enlisted personnel shall take precedence for military matters in accordance with the rules prescribed in this paragraph. In such matters the individual taking precedence shall be considered to be the senior member.

(a) Personnel in one pay grade take precedence over all personnel in lower pay grades, regardless of rating held.

(b) Where personnel are in the same pay grade, they shall take precedence in accordance with rating held, regardless of continuous service in pay grade. Paragraphs (5) and (6) below list the ratings and rates in order of precedence.

(c) Where personnel are in the same pay grade and rating, the one with the greater amount of continuous service in that pay grade takes precedence. For advancements authorized as a result of Navy-wide examinations the date of the authorized increment advancement for the individual will be utilized in determining precedence even though an earlier date is authorized in determining eligibility for subsequent advancement.

(d) Where personnel are in the same rating and pay grade, and have the same amount of continuous service in that pay grade, the one with the greater amount of continuous service in the next lower pay grade shall take precedence.

(3) The rules of precedence for non-military matters are as follows:

(a) Personnel in one pay grade take precedence over all personnel in lower pay grades, regardless of rating held.

(b) Where personnel are in the same pay grade, the one with the greater amount of continuous service in that pay grade takes precedence, regardless of rating held. For advancements authorized as a result of Navy-wide examinations, the date of the authorized increment advancement for the individual will be utilized in determining precedence even though an earlier date is authorized in determining eligibility for subsequent advancement.

(c) Where personnel in the same pay grade have the same amount of continuous service in that pay grade the one with the greater amount of continuous service in the next lower pay grade shall take precedence, regardless of rating held.

(4) The following rules apply to both systems of precedence:

(a) In the case of personnel in pay grade E-7 (chief petty officer, acting appointment or chief petty officer, permanent appointment) service in pay grade for purposes of precedence starts with advancement to chief petty officer, acting appointment, providing continuous service is maintained.

(b) Continuous service is defined as service in present enlistment plus those preceding enlistments involving active or inactive naval service, provided no period in excess of 3 months has occurred between discharge and reenlistment. For purposes of precedence of personnel reenlisted under broken service conditions, precedence in the pay grade in which reenlisted after broken service commences with the date of reenlistment. Service in the pay grade in which reenlisted, or higher pay grade, prior to broken service may not be considered for purposes of precedence.

(c) Proficiency pay (pay for certain specialized personnel such as ET's, RM's, etc.) status shall not influence enlisted precedence.

(d) Strikers within a pay grade do not take seniority over other personnel of the same pay grade by reason of the rating for which they may be striking.

Following is a list of several ratings in order of seniority of interest to NRP's, beginning with the top twenty. Excluding are those ratings peculiar to E-9's and emergency civilian ratings. Service ratings are not listed but have the same precedence as their corresponding General rating.

(5)	RATING	ABBREVIATION
1.	Boatswain's Mate	BM
2.	Quartermaster	QM
3.	Signalman	SM
4.	Gunner's Mate	GM
5.	Damage Controlman	DC

The seniority of the ratings is based, over all on the amount of time the particular rating is worked aboard ship and the amount of general knowledge the rating must have concerning shipboard operation. The Boatswain's Mate, for instance, is required to know all the aspects of ship board operation and is therefore first in seniority. The main reason this list was established and promulgated was to avoid confusion as to order of seniority if all officers were to be killed or incapacitated.

The

Dear Editor:

Since September, when we all started out on the road eventually leading to Annapolis, the morale of the NAFsters has taken a nose dive, to put it mildly.

It seems that everywhere I go, I hear nothing but complaints about how poorly someone else is doing a particular job, but there is never a helping hand offered by the complainer. Sure, it is easy to cut someone down if he makes a mistake--"kick 'em when he's down"--anybody with half a brain could do that. It's almost as if some guys are just waiting like a pack of wolves for the lamb to stray away for the rest of the herd and then they pounce on it.

Why can't we all help each other rather than HINDER? Why can't we make things easier on ourselves through assistance rather than making it ROUGHER through resistance? We are all in this together and most of us have only one thing in mind--to make it to Annapolis. Don't you think it would make things run a lot smoother if we all worked as a team, not as groups of individuals?

Sincerely,
I. L. Concerned

DEAR ALIBI

Dear Alibi,

Lately it seems that I have had trouble getting dates. I have had many friends try to help me with this problem by setting up blind dates for me. I can really score with the girls until I have to carry on a conversation with them. At this point I feel like the cat has got my tongue and I strike out!

Silently yours,
Mute

Dear Mute,

After careful consideration of this problem I feel that you can solve it in one of two ways. First bring a dog along with you on your dates to keep the cat away. Second, contact BuPers and request that your rate be changed to signalman.

Yours truly,
Alibi

Dear Alibi,

I have a terribly embarrassing problem. It seems that when ever my girl and I neck for any length of time, I get this deep craving for food. I can't stop right in the middle and ask if she would like a ham sandwich. What am I to do? I was a 200lb knucklehead and now I'm a 98lb weakling. As you can see I have been abstaining from food. But is there an easier way?

Barely yours,
Famished

Dear Famished,

Your problem is not really as difficult as you "make out" to be. Simply suggest that you do your necking in the refrigerator.

Sincerely yours,
Alibi

Dear Alibi,

I have a very serious problem. Everytime I see a pretty girl that I would like to meet, the second she looks at me I blush so much I look like a broiled lobster. What should I do?

Blushingly yours,
Red

Dear Red,

About the only advice I can give you is to hang around with other lobsters and you will go unnoticed.

Truly yours,
Alibi

LETTERS TO A LONELY NAPSTER

My Dearest Darling _____,

Why have you waited so long before writing to me? Have you found someone else to take my place? Are you still mad at me for what I have done? I know that I wasn't the nicest person to you before you left to go back but what did you expect, after hitting me over the head with that bat and then trying to run over me with your car. I know, I know; it was really my fault and I'm truly sorry. I should never have taken that picture of Soupy Sales out of your wallet but I had no idea he meant that much to you- I really didn't know!

Darling could you ever forgive me? If you could only find time to write, if you could only know how I feel right now. If you could see it in your heart to take me back, you'd make me the happiest girl in the world (even if I've got to play second fiddle to Soupy). I would never again do anything to get you irritated at me. Please, I'm begging you on bended knee, give me another chance to prove my love for you!

If you decide not to take me back, at least I'll have these bumps and bruises to remember you by. I'll cherish them for as long as they last.

Well I think I'll say goodnight for now my sweetheart. Please answer this letter as soon as you can so I will know just where I stand with you. Remember, I love both you and Soupy very very.... much!!!!

All my love to you,

Suggestions on How to Take a Town

Important: Do not let fall into enemy hands. After memorizing have a junior man swallow them.

1. To take charge of this enemy town, and all pretty girls in view, leaving dog for the men junior to me.
2. To survey the town in a military manner, keeping always on the alert for cran games, available booze, and friendly planes that can take me out of danger in case of an enemy counter-attack.
3. To report all violations of black market orders I am instructed to enforce, so I can have more customers for my own supply of soap and Hersey bars.
4. To quit this town only when properly relieved, or if I get frightened by an artillery shell landing 30 miles away.
5. To pass on to anyone who relieves me: my feather bed, my hot water bottle, my pool table, and my comic books. But to be an Indian-Giver if I find that I am senior to him.
6. To talk to no one except in the line of duty; and to be so chicken that no one will talk to me even in the line of duty.
7. To give the alarm for help in case of attack, general disorder, or if I have a bad war dream.
8. To run to the Commanding Officer every opportunity to repeat all the things my men call me; especially names like "Chicken" and "Fink" and try not to cry while doing so.

CENSORED CENSORED CENSORED

Man of the Fleet

(con't)

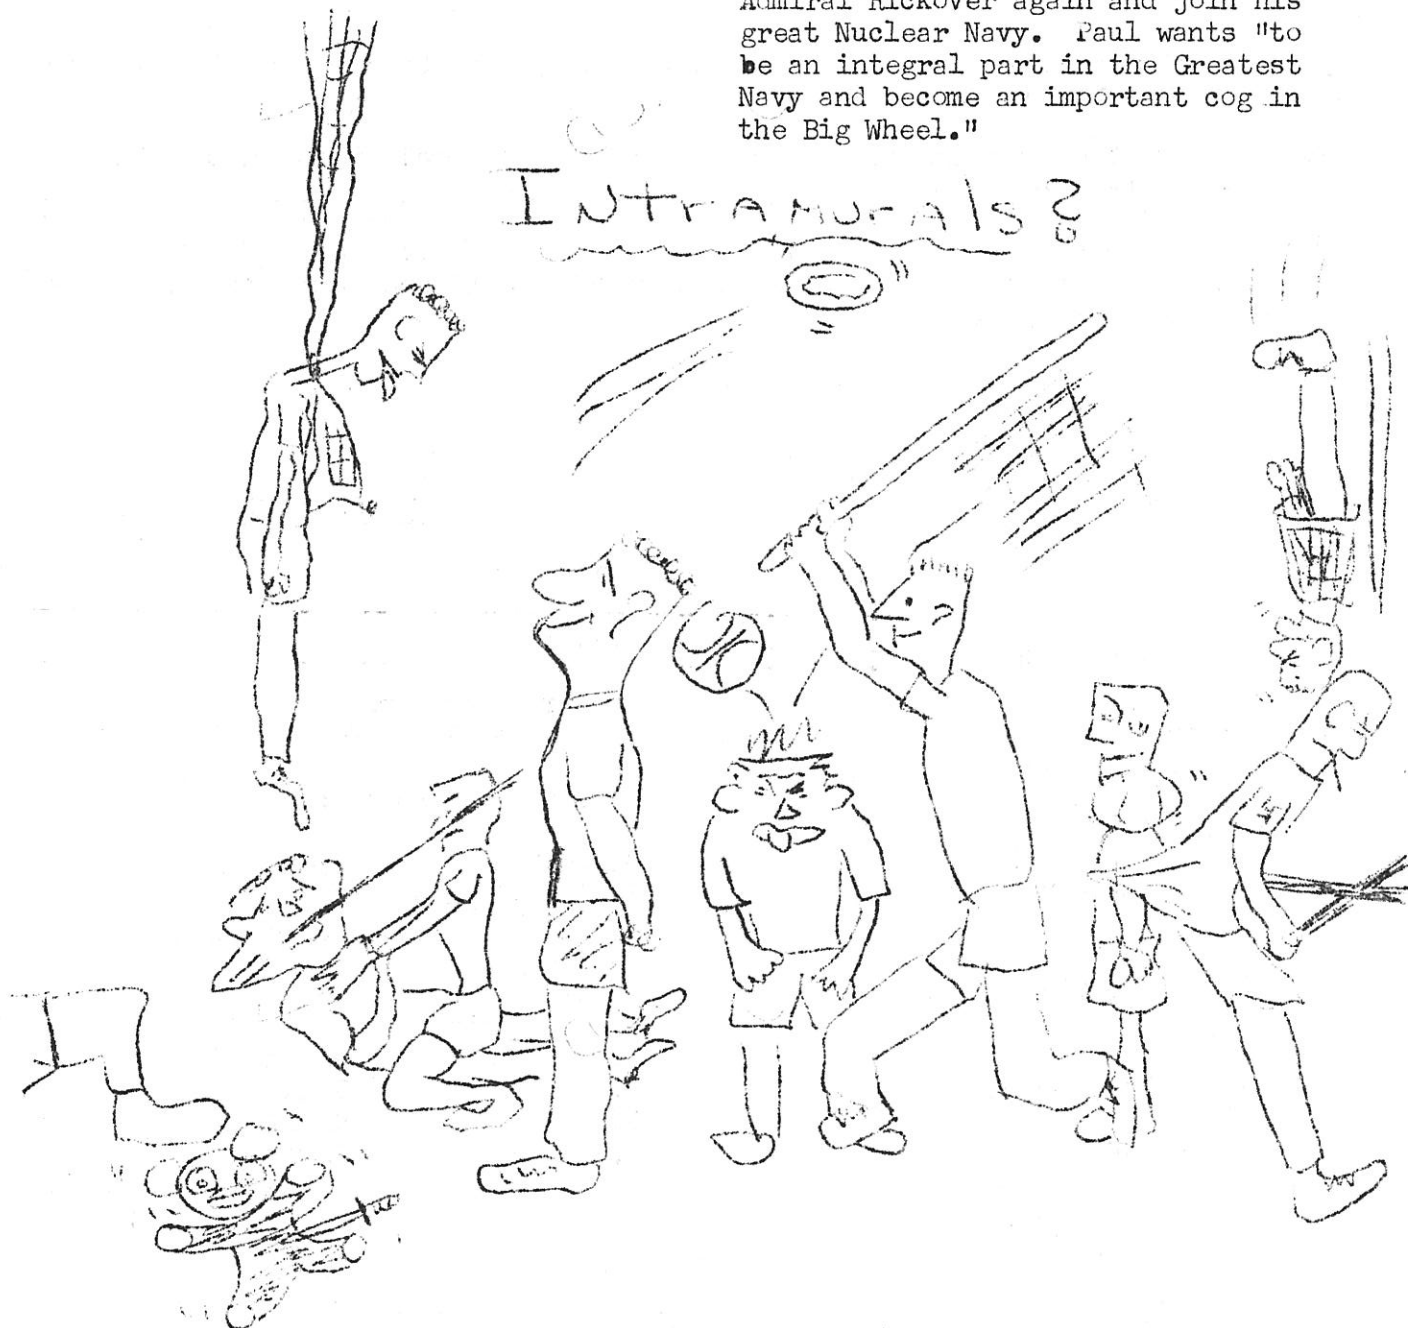

Would you believe getting "fished in" on Coney Island? Company Two's avid floor hockey fan and Executive Company Commander, Paul Cuddy, enlisted 21, July 64 on Coney Island. "From thence" he visited the Great Lakes for several weeks. His comments on that most fabulous of places are unprintable. His love for Great Lakes must have grown for he found himself there in attendance of Machinest Mate Class "A" School. Upon completion, Paul visited warm and sunny Mare Island in California for Basic Nuclear School. Paul was deeply interested in the program and graduated as one of the high men in his class. Following his love for the Nuclear program, Paul traveled back to the East Coast and found himself in West Milton, New York in the Bainbridge Nuclear Prototype School. Paul qualified as a Mechanic Operator in that Plant. He was the second Mechanic in his class to qualify as an operator.

The method of qualification was an four hour Oral Board. Not surprizing, Paul was to become the first Fireman ever selected to stay on as a staff member. His term of duty was 4 February '66 until he set eyes upon NAPS. Paul's Greatest Moment in life was his talk with the most honorable Admiral Rickover. The vonsersation went like this:

Adm. Rickover, "Why are you wearing your working cap on this Engine Room Watch?"

.. Paul, "I wear it because everybody else does."

Those pearls of wisdom will live forever with Paul along with the heart beats that were heard by all within a mile radius. Paul likes NAPS and enjoys the Navy. After graduation from the Academy he would like to meet Admiral Rickover again and join his great Nuclear Navy. Paul wants "to be an integral part in the Greatest Navy and become an important cog in the Big Wheel."

TV

You sit at home and watch TV--
You're sipping a refreshing cold iced tea,

When the news comes on, and you hear from a far off land
Where men are digging in the sand.
A frown appears across your face-- You're tired of hearing about that place.

Who cares about Viet nam, across the sea?

It's far away -- doesn't concern me.
You'd rather hear the Beatles play
Than learn about the world today.
But stop and think a moment or two,
And ask yourself, "Does this concern
you?"

It's great to be alive and free --
But what about the guys across the sea?
They are giving up their lives for me
So that I can live under liberty.
They're far away and fighting a war,
Instead of fighting at my front door.
He's about my age, so why should he care

About the war somebody else should Share?

You call him names and make fun of his cause
Yet he's always first to win your wars.
You lucky guy--you laugh and sneer,
Because you have never know fear.
This young man faces it each day,
Though he's always got something funny
to say.

No mail again--a twinge of sorrow-- Oh what the hell--there's always tomorrow!

The morale is low, the tension high,
Some even break down and cry.
Thinking of loved ones at home,
he works all day, guards all night,
He's tired and sick, but he continues to fight.

The college crowd thinks he's a fool,
And that makes him hard and cruel.
You don't appreciate what he will do--
Like giving up his life for you.
He sacrifices much--gets nothing in return

Just so you can stay in school and learn.

He believes in freedom and American Life

Amidst his troubles and unworldly strife.
No dances for this young man
Until he gets back home again.
The days are hot, the nights are too,
What a wonder a cold can of beer can do!
He dreams of cold beer and thick,
juicy steaks,

When someone shouts, "We've got a hill to take!"

Some will be heroes because they are brave,

And others will get a wreath on their grave.

You'll recognize him as he walksby,
There's a determined look in his eye.
He walks proud--this fighting machine--
He's known as the United States
Marine!

Anon.

Due to academic difficulties beyond my control, the Marine in Viet Nam has been temporarily postponed.

Women! What say you do with them?
More to the point, what would you do without them? They get you going, and never let you slow down. They bug you, nag you and worry you to death. And when they're not around to bother you, you miss them.

Forget about them, and they're all over you. Tell them you love them, and you might see them next Christmas (unless a little round gold thing catches their eye.) They make life impossible, and they're the only reason for living, too. They call you in the middle of the night to say hi, and are never on time for a date.

They come in different sizes, mostly small. The weaker sex? Somehow they don't seem to be handicapped to me. Ever notice who's all shot out of shape at the end of a dance? It ain't the lady!

's funny. Act like you care and you've had it. Run like -- and you can't get rid of them. They're opposites! Ever try to out guess a dame on the freeway? Whatever they should do, they don't. If you think they do, they probably don't, but then again they just might. If you think they don't, they might. That is, if rain fell in Kolembarangara last Tuesday.
Ever get the idea they're here to keep men's minds off more important things?

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

BY Hindman

What is the most important thing you have learned here at NAPS?

BALLINGER: In any triangle the square on the side opposite an acute angle is equivalent to the sum of the squares on the other two sides diminished by twice the product of one of these sides by the projection of the other upon that side.

POWELL: To avoid the use of "would have" in "if clauses" expressing the earlier of two past actions, one should use the past perfect.

MARKS: Any highly polished surface which forms images by the regular reflection of light may be called a mirror.

KING, W. G.: To add two real numbers with like signs, add their absolute values and prefix their common sign to the result.

SPEARS: The habits and conditions of life of the Globerinae in chalk differ in no respect from those living today.

BARRINGTON: No matter how hard you try, you can not throw potato chips.

BASKETBALL '67
by: Phil Taylor

The NPS students saw their team open the season with a much expected win over the surprisingly slow team from Baltimore College of Commerce. Having carried their pregame tightness into the first quarter of play, the NPS five seemed reluctant to give it up until early in the second quarter.

Enjoying what they do best, running and more running, the home team used the spaciousness of the home court to cut their deficit and go ahead for the first time since the opening basket to lead at half-time 27-23.

Opening the third quarter with the inside shots of Luddy Barktus, the near-perfect accuracy of Wally Wagemaker from the corner, and the long bombs of Ron Kentfield from the top of the circle, the home team increased their lead to 20 points. From there, the game evened out with the final horn heralding a 74-55 victory for NAPS. The game's top scorer and leading rebounder was Luddy Barktus with 26 points and 18 rebounds. Lee Rankin was the big man for Baltimore with 20 points and 13 rebounds. NAPS plays Baltimore this Thursday night in Baltimore in the confines of their small gym.

BASKETBALL '67
by: Phil Taylor

In their second game of the week, NAPS went to Fort Belvoir, Va. to challenge the Military Academy Prep School. Forced to wait almost two and a half hours because the local Boy Scouts had the use of the gym until 1530, the two teams took the court to resume their rivalry.

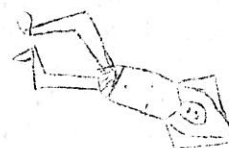

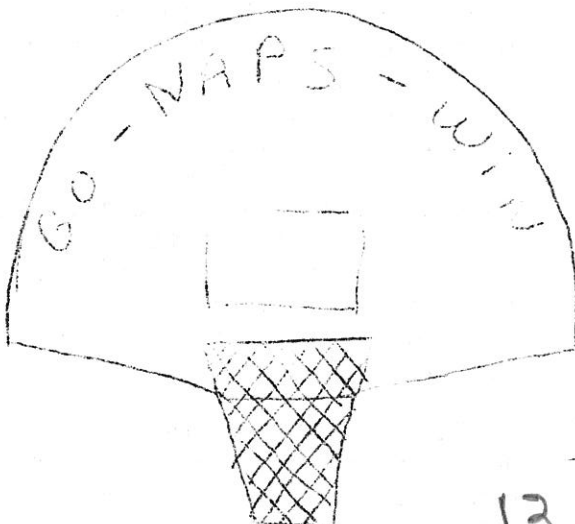

NAPS was in double figures before NAPS scored their first point on a Free throw by Luddy Barktus. From there, NAPS fought back to tie the game and then to go ahead by two points, but then lost the advantage and found themselves down at halftime 35-28.

Again NAPS fought back in the third quarter to come within two points but the deadly outside shots of Tetu and Faddis of MAPS stopped the NAPS charge. The final score was 75-67, A victory for MAPS.

Luddy Barktus was again high point man for NAPS with 18 points even though he only scored four points in the first half of play. Three NAPSers hit in the double figures, Wally Wagemaker with 16 and Ron Kentfield and Ralph Westerman with 12 points.

High man for MAPS was Bob Faddis with 17 points, followed by Tetu with 14, and Joe Page and Larry McLaren with 11 apiece. The height superiority of MAPS enabled them to out rebound NAPS 64-52 with Page grabbing 14 (High for both teams) even though he fouled out early in the fourth quarter.

LETTER'S TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Your dedication to the Naval Academy and its traditions is admirable, but your manner of expressing this dedication is not beyond reproach. No Academy graduate's pride should stem from surviving Plebe Year or from the possibility of telling his children that he graduated from Annapolis. Pride must come from a person's knowledge that he is a man of ability and integrity. That the Academy has helped him become such a man, by its education and honor system, is the only rational reason for his having pride in his Academy degree.

A pyramid was never built by establishing a point for a pinnacle and then proceeding to tear the ground away around this point. In the same way, a good writer will not establish something as his pinnacle by tearing down all of its rivals. If you are going to praise the Academy, build the Academy up, don't tear down the other fine educational facilities in this country. Even if argument by character assassination were valid you would still have to define terms and give supporting evidence for allegations. What do you mean by common sense? If you mean good judgment, you still have yet to prove that the other "4,000 colleges and universities in the United States" graduate men with degrees "but not an ounce of common sense," and that the Naval Academy is the last bastion of good judgment in a land of rampaging irresponsible intellectuality. Be proud of your goals and future alma mater but don't let this pride negate the role of the schools. And if you must write editorials try not to be so transparent.

On The Mat

The Naps Matmen chalked up their first victory Saturday against John Hopkins freshmen. Here is how the scoring went:

Jakes pinned his opponent to make the score 5-0 Naps. The next 5 points was gained when the John Hopkins coach found out Carter was Marine and forfeited the match. The score was then 10-0 Naps. Wilson, D.E. lost to his opponent and John Hopkins came on the score board with 3 points. Sayer in the 145 pound weight class also lost to

The Swim Team

The swim team elected its team captain Saturday before its meet with John Hopkins freshman swim team. The newly elected team captain was Ron Nissila who is also one of the teams better swimmers.

The team has already competed against the University of Delaware before Christmas and has more meets on its schedule against such schools as American University and Millersville State Teacher's College in Pennsylvania.

The team's coach is Captain Christy and the members of the team are: Ron Nissila (captain), Buddy Barnette, Jerry Hoffer, Jim Morrow, Tom Trimmer, Fred Mallgrave, Kellogg, John Hughs, John Brandes, Steve Harris, Cook, Rick Doering, and Val Cushman. The Divers for the swim team are Fred Turnbull, Jerry Hill and Bruce Loughridge. The team's manager is J.P. Sievers.

The team's record so far is two losses, but with the same feeling that was felt after the Alamo.

his opponent making the score 10-8 Naps. Spears lost to his opponent also in the last minutes of his match and John Hopkins took over the lead 10-11. Mascaluk lost to his man making a score of 10-14 John Hopkins. Then we started coming back. Strott stepped onto the mat to pin his man and give Naps the lead again 15-14. Barasha then lost his match and the lead once more went to John Hopkins 15-17.

The heavy weight match was now up. It was up to Ballanger whether we would win or lose. He did his job well. He pinned his man and Naps won by a final score of 20-17.

Jabberwocky

by Charles Lutwidge Dodgson
(Lewis Carroll)

'Twas brillig, and the slithy toves

Did gyre and gimble in the wabe;

All mimsy were the borogoves,

And the mome raths outgrabe.

"Beware the Jabberwock, my son!

The jaws that bite, the claws that catch!

Beware the Jub-jub bird and shun

The frumious Bandersnatch!"

He took his vorpal sword in hand;

Long time the manxome foe he sought

So rested he by the Tumtum tree,

And stood awhile in thought.

And, as in uffish thought he stood,

The Jabberwock, with eyes of flame,

Came whiffing through the tulgey wood,

And burbled as it came!

One, two! One, two! And through and through

The vorpal blade went snicker-snack!

He left it dead, and with its head

He went galumphing back.

"And hast thou slain the Jabberwock?

Come to my arms, my beamish boy!

O frabjous day! Callooh! Calley!"

He chortled in his joy.

'Twas brillig, and the slithy toves

Did gyre and gimble in the wabe;

All mimsy were the borogoves,

And the mome raths outgrabe.
